Members of the Class of 1957 await presentation of diplomas in exercises held May 31. The class numbered 283 candidates, largest ever to graduate from Eastern.

U Sociologist to Speak at Assembly Today

Robert Winch, professor of sociology at Northwestern University, will address an all-school assembly this morning at 9:50 in the gymnasium. His subject will be "Some Views on How We Live Together."

Winch is the author of several books such as, Modern Family, Selected Studies in Marriage and the Family (in co-editorship with Robert McGinnis), and a new book which will be published this month, Mate-Selection: A Study of Elementary Needs. He is also author of the text book used at Eastern in the family living class.

Winch was born in Lakewood, Ohio, in 1911. He received his B.S. at Western Reserve University in 1935, his A.M. at the University of Chicago in 1939 in sociology, and his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago in sociology in 1942. From 1941 to 1942, he was an instructor of sociology at the University of Chicago. Winch served with the U. S. Navy from 1942 to 1945.

Winch was a Fellow of the Social Science Research Council from 1946 to 1946, and from 1946 to 1946 he was an associate professor of sociology at Vanderbilt University. He served as an associate professor in sociology at Northwestern from 1948 to 1955, when he came to Eastern as a full professor.

Winch is a member of the American Sociological Society, the Psychological Research Association, the American Psychological Association (Fellow of Division 8, personality and social psychology), the American Statistical Association.

The assembly is part of the family living workshop which begins Monday and is a three-credit workshop. It is open to all freshmen and graduate students. Four hours of credit may be earned or the workshop may be audited.

Student Dormitory Now Open

Students interested in applying for the position of assistant director of Lincoln Hall for the college year 1957-58 are asked to contact Dean Lawson as soon as possible. The position offers an opportunity for a woman to coordinate most of the requirements for the master's degree without incurring much expense.

Emphasis will be on the psychological, social, and practical aspects of family living. Some of the visiting consultants besides Dr. Winch will be Dr. Wallace Wesley, consultant in health and fitness, American Medical Association; Dr. Ralsh Boatman, director of health education, Chicago and Cook County Tuberculosis Association; and Dr. Albert Shafter, mental health educator, Illinois Department of Welfare.

The workshop lectures are open to the public and any one can sit in on these lectures free of cost.

Summer Chorus Seeks Members

Summer college chorus rehearsals will be held at 2:10 p.m. each Tuesday in Old Aud, according to Charles Hummer, conductor of the chorus.

Persons interested in joining the summer chorus should report to Mr. Hummer at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday, June 25, in the Old Aud.

Chorus rehearsals are one hour in length.

Chorus Session Opens Music Camp Mon.

The first full week of Eastern's high school summer music camp opened Monday when students from almost 100 Illinois high schools came to the campus for the week-long chorus camp.

Sunday chorus camp will rehearse this week under the direction of Dr. Arthur L. Redner, director of the chorus at Iowa State Teachers college, who will serve as guest conductor for the camp. Sunday the chorus will present its concert at 3 p.m. in the Music Camp theatre tent behind the annex.

The concert will conclude the chorus portion of the music camp and make way for the final regular session consisting of the band camp. More than 675 high school students from more than 100 Illinois schools are expected to participate in the entire summer camp.

The music camp opened last Thursday when the 110 member Lockport Township high school

Doudna Addresses Opening Assembly Of Summer Term

President Quincy Doudna addressed the first summer term assembly Wednesday at 9:50 in Old Aud. The president's talk was on "America's Point Four Program."

The president's speech was concerned primarily with his experiences in Peru working for the government's Point Four Program, began in 1949 by Harry Truman to send technical aid to "underdeveloped" areas of the world. Dr. Doudna discussed the geographic aspects of Peru as well as the agricultural situation and the country as a whole.

President Doudna, before coming to Eastern last fall from Steven's Point college in Wisconsin, was employed by the United States government in Peru and Egypt as well as other countries.

At Wednesday's assembly Doudna briefly explained the college building program. He told the summer school students attending the assembly that construction on the student union building is expected to begin this summer and is to be completed in 15 months.

Dr. Byron Heise, director of summer school, introduced the president and gave some opening announcements.

Zeigel to Attend Educators Meeting

Director of placement bureau, William H. Zeigel, will attend the twelfth annual National Conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The meeting will be held June 25-29 in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Zeigel will be the official representative of the National Institutional Teacher association.

Theme of the conference is to be "Personnel policies for schools of the future." Representatives will be concerned with changes in technology and society, quality of teaching services, and the role of professional personnel policies and retaining competent teachers.

The conference is to be organized around three major units, each consisting of from 10 to 15 study groups.

band arrived in Charleston to begin rehearsals for their concert last Sunday afternoon. The band was invited to the music camp by Dr. Leo Dvorak, head of the music department and director of the music camp.

Mr. E. O. Caneva is the director of the Lockport band and the assistant director is Mr. Herbert Tatroe. The band members attended rehearsals Friday and Saturday mornings, and the afternoons of the two days included a tour of the campus, a picnic, swimming, and a dance on Saturday evening.

Dr. Westcott and Dr. Boyd, of Eastern's music department, directed the band rehearsals. The concert which was presented Sunday was the official opening of the summer music camp.

On the concert program were Rossini's "William Tell," "Romeo and Juliet overture," selections from Verdi's opera, and the

An all-time high of 1031 full-time students had enrolled at Eastern by the close of summer registration last Wednesday. This figure includes graduate and extension course students and is over 100 higher than the last previous high of 900 students in 1956.

The current enrolment is an increase of 11 per cent over last summer and a 70 per cent increase in the last four years.

The extension office reported 28 students enrolled in resident extension courses not including students enrolled in off-campus extension work centered in communities near the college.

This made a grand total of 1031

Placement Bureau Offers Suggestions To Students, Grads

Dr. William H. Zeigel, director of the placement bureau, has recently issued a list of three statements designed to clear up misunderstanding among students and graduates.

He says persons graduating in August for any degree must either register for placement or, if already registered prior to this year, bring their papers up to date. This is a graduation requirement even though the candidate does not plan to seek a new position. There is no charge for registration.

He points out that teachers on "contractual continued service" (Illinois tenure) may not resign within 60 days of the opening of their school term without securing a voluntary release from their school board.

New teachers or those who are moving are expected to abide by any contract they may sign. The 60 day period does not apply to non-tenure persons.

Zeigel added that there have been some misunderstandings on the part of some graduates about certificates qualifying them for administrative and supervisory work. The Illinois All Grade Supervisory Certificate requires a master's degree with teaching and preparation in both the elementary and secondary school levels.

The master's degree, according to the Illinois Certification board, must be in the field of educational administration. A master's degree in some subject area is not enough.

Karen overture, which was an original arrangement by Mr. Caneva.

In the last two years the Lockport band has given concerts for the Lion's club national convention in Atlantic City, Washington, D. C., and New York city. They were also the guest band for the Tulip Festival in Holland, Michigan. The band has been invited to the Midwest Clinic in Chicago during December and was one of eight bands from the 48 states to receive this invitation. An invitation to play in the Orange Bowl in Florida has also been extended to this band.

An unusually strong feeling prevails throughout the members of the band. Three of the students flew to Charleston Sunday to play in the concert, and several of the students left summer jobs in order to attend the music session. The band rehearses for 12 months. An average of three or four trips (Continued on page 4) students enrolled for the 1957 summer session.

Graduate enrolment was also high with 196 students registered in post-graduate courses. Last year's graduate enrolment was 104.

Dean Hobart F. Heller attributed the increase in enrolment to the pronounced rise in the number of graduate students, although he noted a significant rise in the number of regular students also.

An acceleration of programs in order to finish college more quickly is the main factor for the increase of regular students according to Dean Heller.

He also expects graduate enrolment to increase in future summers.

The IBM office released figures Monday breaking down the enrolment of specific classes. Seniors on campus for summer courses topped all other classes with 338. This figure includes teachers returning to complete work besides regular students.

Juniors ranked second in enrolment with 211. There are 152 sophomores on campus and 60 students beginning their first year in college. There are 46 students who are listed as unclassified.

The totals do not include persons who are enrolled in off-campus courses and workshops. Figures on persons engaged in this work will appear later.

GED Testing Set For June 27 to 28

General Educational Development tests will be administered at Eastern on June 27 and 28, 1957, from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. A person meeting the standards of the test is entitled to receive a diploma from his or her local high school.

Veterans, servicemen and civilian-adults 21 years of age or older are eligible to take these tests. An application for the test must be approved and completed by the principal or superintendent of the high school which the candidate attended or would have attended. All applications must be accompanied by a four-dollar testing fee. Checks are payable to Eastern Illinois State college.

State regulations are such that no tests will be administered or recognized as a measure of high school equivalence until after the class, of which the individual examinee was a member, has been graduated.

Hesler Will Advise 'News' During Summer of 1957

Kenneth E. Hesler, assistant director of public relations, has been named by the administration to act as adviser to the News for the summer of 1957.

Hesler will temporarily replace Dr. Francis W. Palmer who will not be teaching during the summer.

A 1951 graduate of Eastern, Hesler was editor of the News in that year. He has been in the public relations office since 1951.

From The Desk . . .

Schools Must . . .

Expand With Students

Summer school enrolment again reached an all-time high at Eastern this year, as further evidence that our schools face acute problems in housing and in furnishing teachers for the students who wish to further their education. Many schools, mainly in the Midwest, are taking steps to alleviate this situation with extension building programs. Eastern is one example of this.

School officials and the public must accept the fact that they will have to keep pace with the continued growth in the number of people who wish to attend institutions of higher learning. Institutions who train teachers must further expand their facilities to provide opportunities for those who wish to make use of them.

The Midwest, as a whole, seems to realize this trend and is planning for it by expanding rapidly through extensive building programs and an expansion of curriculum. Some areas are not taking quite as long a look into the future, however, and may find themselves lacking when it comes to provide adequately trained teachers.

Double Value . . .

To Summer Music Camp

Early reports have estimated that 675 high school students will be on Eastern's campus during the next two weeks for the annual summer music camp sponsored by the music department here.

The camps, which this year will last more than four weeks, are split into two sections, band and chorus. Added this year to the regular two week session is the special band section consisting of the Lockport high school symphony band, one of the finest in Illinois and in the nation.

Bringing these young musicians to Eastern and training them under the supervision of guest directors should be a fine experience for them. The training and experience gained by working together to assemble a band or chorus capable of delivering a concert within a week is certainly a credit to the students' and directors' musical capabilities.

But aside from the musical aspect of the situation, the summer camp gives students a chance to see a college, although not at it's peak during summer school, and to get a vague feel of college life for a brief week or two.

The job Eastern's music department is doing is valuable musically speaking and is a great contribution to the public relations job at Eastern.

Fifth Amendment Changes . . .

Will Prove a Difficult Task

Dave Beck Sr. has invoked the 5th amendment more than 200 times to avoid the necessity of answering the questions of the senate's racket committee. His son, Dave Beck Jr., followed his father's footsteps and ran his personal score to 128.

Because of these refusals to testify, the committee and its chairman, Sen. McClellan of Arkansas, is considering an amendment of the Constitution to deprive the citizens of some of their present immunity from self-incrimination.

Sen. McClellan believes that the clause in the fifth amendment against self-incrimination was intended as a protection of the innocent, not the guilty. The origins of the provision are somewhat obscure, but the probability is that it was intended, among other things, to discourage the use of torture to obtain confessions that were unreliable as evidence simply because they were coerced. Torture, and the modern version, brain washing, might bring an innocent man to confess a crime; it might also bring a guilty man to tell a falsehood that would either exaggerate his guilt or transfer it to some wholly innocent man.

The provision against self-incrimination was, therefore, a protection of all citizens, whether innocent or guilty, not only to save them from being manhandled but also to discourage the production of a lot of unreliable testimony to clutter the record.

Sen McClellan can't be so naive as to suppose that he can write an amendment which would protect the innocent witness but not the guilty one, for the whole purpose of the trial is to discover, if possible, whether a man is innocent or guilty.

In the movies you can distinguish the good guys from the bad ones at a glance, but you can't do that in life.

THE SOUNDING BOARD

by Marcel Pacatte

The recent rise in the Embarrass river prompted the executive council and alumni president of the Royal Order of the Black Knights of the Embarrass to travel to Chicago for a conference with officials of the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Protector and Keeper of the Embarrass River Valley, Dick Winters, made an on the spot survey and reported conditions hazardous.

The committee making the Chicago trip combined business with pleasure and visited some likely prospects for colonization. They reported at the weekly meeting that many fine contacts had been made, but no further action was taken at this time.

When asked for a comment concerning this tabled action, President Cy Sarver commented, "We could not possibly take any action concerning colonization at this time. The situation out in the Embarrass valley must be dealt with first."

"Winters is a very capable man, and we have put the matter entirely in his hands."

Plans for a number of outings are in the embryo stage, but again no action was taken at this meeting.

Bob Woolever led the group in singing the Black Knight fight song at the close of the meeting, in the absence of Dick Nesmith, choral director.

When discussing possibilities for a name to head this column a number of fine suggestions were made. Some people thought it should be called "Under the Sounding Board" or "Along Whisky Row," but the perseverance of the editor paid off and the title remained the same as it has been throughout the year.

Speaking of perseverance, it takes quite a bit of that quality to make your way down to Booth library these days. Construction of the new dorms and the recent rains have left open only one main artery of travel.

We've seen the time when fewer obstacles than these would keep a student from making that journey.

Marriage Aids Student in Study According to College Survey

(ACP)—Recent surveys have shown that boys and girls tend to marry at an earlier age than did their grandparents. Thus, colleges and universities find themselves increasing numbers of young, married students.

The students themselves are divided upon the question whether or not being married helps or hinders college studies.

About a third of the students believe being married helps a student in his studies while another third are undecided. About a quarter of the students think marriage hinders studies.

Associated Collegiate Press gathered collegiate opinion on this issue by asking the following question of a representative national cross-section of students:

Do you think being married helps or hinders a college student in his studies?

The results:

	Men	Women
Helps	42%	25%
Hinders	20%	33%
Undecided	38%	38%

The figures indicate a substantial gulf between the sexes, with men holding the opinion that marriage helps college studies.

Students believing marriage helps college studies generally feel that it has a stabilizing influence on the student more of a mental lift. Many also believe marriage tends to help mature and provides motivation. Here are some marks typical of these points of view:

"If financial problems are solved, I think it (marriage) is a tremendous help," is the opinion of a freshman coed at Long Beach City College (Long Beach, Calif.), and a senior at Oswego State Teacher's College (Oswego, N. Y.) believes marriage helps a student for study and has a bet on getting ahead."

Students who think marriage hinders college studies usually cite two reasons for their opinion. First, they feel that problems are too great to overcome. And second, they believe marriage adds many problems which cause more worry, etc.

"Financial worries and responsibilities are too much for the opinion of a senior at the College of Business (St. Paul, Minn.), who had plans of being a professional man, got married and carried out their plans."

A sophomore coed at Baruch School of Business (New York) thinks there is much additional responsibility.

El Tennis Stars Play in Texas; Summer Intramurals Planned

by George Barbour

Eastern tennis stars, Denny Konicki and Clark Nelson participated in the National NAIA Tennis Tournament June 5-8 at Beaumont, Texas. Konicki, singles champion of the IIAC, advanced to the third round of the national tourney before losing 6-4, 6-3 to Pedro Bueno, a Brazilian and former Davis Cup player who is now attending Lamar Tech, Beaumont. Nelson, No. 2 singles champion of the IIAC, lost his first round singles match 6-2, 6-1.

In doubles competition, Konicki and Nelson dropped their second round match to top seeded Stan Ellis and Aaron Johnson of Pepperdine, 8-6, 6-3.

Frank Wolf, Panther center fielder, was the only member of the baseball team to receive recognition on the IIAC all star listings. He was picked on the second team. Wolf, who was a shortstop his first two seasons on the squad, was shifted to center field this year because of his strong throwing arm.

Jim Brewer, the first high schooler to clear 15 feet in the pole vault is said to have a completely unorthodox style. He doesn't jack knife over the bar as do most vaulters, but sails over with his back to the bar. Weighing only 160 pounds and not possessing the powerful shoulders that are standard equipment for a vaulter, he relies on his great coordination to get him up there.

Summer intramural sports are slated to get under way this week according to Director, Walt Elmore. There are to be tournaments in tennis, golf, horseshoes, badminton, bridge, chess, and softball. At present there are only three softball teams organized and a fourth one is needed before play can start. Prospects should contact Coach Elmore.

Students who do not wish to participate in the tournaments, but would like to get in some recreation on their own, may check out all types of equipment at the lounge.

Eastern's track team is still the best state college squad in Illinois, but for the third year in a row they were forced to finish third behind the two Michigan teams in the IIAC meet. However, this year's third place finish was accomplished without the services of their ace broad jumper and hurdler, Ray White who was out with a leg injury. Eastern did not capture a first place in the meet.

* * *

Eastern's baseball team should be on solid footing next year, having almost all their lettermen back. The biggest loss through graduation was the "old pro" third baseman Gene Cornell. However there are two or three capable men vying for the position.

Article by Giffin Appears in Bulletin

Dr. James F. Giffin of the business education department is the author of an article appearing in the May issue of the American Business Education bulletin.

The article is entitled "The Unique Responsibility of the Program of Business Education to the Community." In the article, Dr. Giffin states, "The success of the program of business education to the community ultimately rests on the shoulders of the teacher. His job is one of public relations as well as of business education."

He goes on to say that business education programs must keep abreast by meeting change with change just as business does if the programs expect to serve the needs of business and individuals.

He also stated that the schools must maintain close and continuous relationship with the business community or the result will be curricula, course content, and teaching methods that are out of date.

Zeigel, Mather To Attend NEA Convention

Dr. William H. Zeigel, director of placement, and Dr. Merrilee Mather, English department, will be representatives from Eastern who attend the National Educational Association convention in Philadelphia this summer.

Dr. Zeigel is to be one of the state delegates representing the IEA and Miss Mather is to be a representative of the Eastern Division of the IEA.

Scheduled for June 30 to July 5, this meeting will mark the 100th year of the NEA's growth from a summer in 1857 when 43 educators met in Philadelphia to found the organized teaching profession in America.

Over 15,000 teachers and administrators from all over the United States and its territories will be on hand for this century-mark meeting and will convene under a slogan of "An Educated People Moves Forward."

Martha Rountree's "Press Conference," a CBS network television show, will originate at the convention site Sunday, June 30 at 5:30 p.m. EDT. A special "teachers guest," selected on the basis of suggestions from the nation's teachers, will appear on the program to answer questions presented by a panel of reporters.

Famous names in education will appear on every session program and include Dr. James B. Conant, former U. S. Ambassador to West Germany; Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review; Bruce Catton, author of Civil War history and Editor of American Heritage; and Sir Ronald Gould of England, president of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession.

are sponsored by the Band Boosters each year. The chaperones for the trip to Charleston included nine members of the Band Boosters organization.

Mr. Caneva said, "The Lockport band and chaperones were very, very happy with the facilities which they found at Eastern. They were quite pleased with the program set up by Dr. Dvorak, their meals at Douglas hall were excellent, and the music personnel of the college was outstanding."

Motivation is Goal Of Art Workshop

A workshop in elementary school art is now in session on the third floor of the junior high school. This workshop started June 10 and will continue until June 28.

Morning sessions are devoted to a junior workshop in art for the fifth and sixth grades. The afternoon is spent discussing problems pertaining to the teaching of art in the elementary school. Special attention is given to motivation techniques, such as films and trips.

A junior art shop exhibit will be held in the junior high building at the close of the workshop.

Anyone is welcome to attend workshop sessions for observation.

California Exhibit in C

An exhibition of California art as many leading artists opened at the gallery last Thursday and will continue through June 28.

Organized and sponsored by Grace McCann Moore, the San Francisco Long Beach, the exhibition is currently being circulated by the United States Smithsonian Institution Exhibition service.

The gallery is open to the public each week day from 10 a.m. except Friday and Thursday evenings, will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The sleek new Corvette—and Chevrolet Bel Air Convertible

Every Chevy is a Corvette at heart!

... because every Chevrolet shares Corvette's sports car steering, its quicksilver responsiveness, its ready-for-anything roadability.

In plain fact, a Chevy does give you an unseen bonus you don't get in other cars. It's the built-in stability, the accurate handling, the geared-to-the-road security that derive from our experience building America's only true sports car.

Take this away and Chevy would still be ahead of the field in ultra-efficient engine design, in velvet ride and solidity of construction. But you can't separate that Corvette feeling from any Chevrolet—it's built in. Try one and see!
